Growing Cactus From Seed

is a slow and exacting task. The seedlings in the seed flats are grown in a first class glasshouse for three to nine months, depending upon the variety, before they reach a large enough size to be passed on to the young lady in our illustration. She sorts them into several sizes as most cactus grow quite irregularly. At this first transplanting, several hundred tiny plants are set into a flat of specially prepared and heat treated soil. It will be another six to twelve months before they are reset again. During this time they must be carefully watered, sprayed and be protected from the ravages of grasshoppers, cut worms, birds, mice and rabbits all of which consider them to be choice morsels. At the second transplanting they are graded again for size and usually set one hundred to the flat. After another six months to a year, they will be large enough to begin to put on our price list.

OVER THE GARDEN GATES

Howdy Neighbors:

We are back again with some nice offerings for your summer customers and to grow on into larger plants for next winter's market. This time we are offering a new collection that will interest the customers that are always looking for some thing unusual that is not often found on the plant counters. We call it the FANCIER'S ASSORTMENT and make it up from items that are only found on our retail list. We price it at $15.00 per 100 and label one of each kind. We can make up a similar $25.00 per hundred assortment too.

Many of our customers for the ordinary assortments do not care about names, so we are offering our lower priced assortments at one dollar per hundred less than the same kinds ordered under name. If you wish them named, request it and add one dollar per 100 on assortments listed under ten dollars per 100. When higher priced assortments or kinds are ordered under name, we will always label free upon request.

Cactus are blooming all over the place now. As I write this, a bed containing thousands of Notocactus apricus is a solid mat of yellow. The other Notocactus are about ready to break forth and the Mammillarias and Echinopsis are doing themselves proud.

One time this spring we did not have to blow our own horn. Every February, the Desert Botanical Garden near Phoenix, Arizona puts on a ten day cactus show in their large auditorium. We sent over a group of specimen plants established in plastic bulb pans. At this show, commercial entries are not in competition. Consequently we were surprised to learn that by popular vote our exhibit was declared to be the best grown plants in the show and a handsome bronze plaque testifying to this was presented to us. We have a lot more that are just as good, so if you are interested in show plants, ask for our large plant list.

We have been having wonderful success with the season's seed sowing which began last fall. This means that next year we will begin to have a lot of new things to offer. You know it takes a year and a half or more to get most of our plants ready to offer in the smaller sizes. Some of the items offered on this list at $10.00 per 100 are three and even four years old. So what we planted this last winter will not begin to appear upon our lists until some time next year.

Our head packer has been working for us fifteen years. So he knows his stuff and he's raring to get to work on your order.

Adios

P.S. This list cancels all former quotations.—H.E.G.

ASSORTMENTS

To those who only wish a few of a kind, we recommend our assortments. They are made up of carefully selected plants from each price group and often include some kinds that we do not have in large enough quantity to list.
